The more I want to do something the less I call it work